ABOUT THE MIDDLE ATLANTIC CORPORATION

The Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Corporation, formerly called the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference, originated in 1912 as a loose confederation of colleges. It was unified into an actual all-sports playing conference in 1952, and is the largest Division III Conference holding NCAA associate membership. In 1999, spurred by changes in the NCAA championship structure, the Corporation formed as an umbrella for three conferences - Freedom, Commonwealth, and Middle Atlantic.

The Freedom Conference contains Arcadia University, Delaware Valley College, DeSales University, Fairleigh Dickinson University-Florham, King's College, Manhattanville College and Wilkes University.

The Commonwealth Conference consists of Albright College, Elizabethtown College, Lebanon Valley College, Lycoming College, Messiah College and Widener University.

The Middle Atlantic Conference contains all thirteen institutions.

The MASCAC will undergo further expansion next year when Alvernia College and College Misericordia join the Freedom Conference.

The earliest records indicate that the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association was organized on December 11, 1912. The first annual meeting occurred on May 16, 1913, followed by the first conference track meet at Lafayette College the next day.

ON THE COVER

Senior guard Katie Cappelloni will be one of the team's leaders this season after starting 23 games last season and averaging 8.7 points and 4.5 rebounds per game.

FAST FACTS

HEAD COACH RACHEL HARTUNG EMMERTHAL

Rachel Emmerthal begins her third season as the head coach of the Wilkes women's basketball program after being named to the post in September of 2005. Emmerthal has led the Lady Colonels to an overall record of 12-38 during her first two seasons.

Emmerthal came to Wilkes after spending two seasons as the head coach at Centenary College in New Jersey. The Cyclones were 4-21 during her first season in 2003-04. The 2004-05 squad doubled the win total from the previous season, finishing the year with a record of 8-17 and securing a berth in the Skyline Conference tournament.

Emmerthal's time at Centenary was not strictly spent on working with the women's basketball program. She also served as an Adjunct Professor of Sport Management and performed administrative tasks in the athletic department.

Emmerthal graduated from DeSales University in 2001 with bachelor's degrees in both Sport Management and Marketing. While at DeSales she was a four-year member of the women's basketball team and helped the Bulldogs fashion an overall record of 82-30. A standout post player, Emmerthal played a key role in helping DeSales win a pair of conference championships and garner two berths in the NCAA Division III Championships. She concluded her playing career with 898 points, 691 rebounds and 116 blocked shots.

After graduating from DeSales Emmerthal moved on to East Stroudsburg University, where she accepted a graduate assistant position with the women's basketball program. During her two seasons with the Warriors she was active in all aspects of the women's basketball program. She corroborated with the head coach on practices, recruiting, coaching the post players, and assisting with both strength training and academic monitoring.

ASSISTANT COACH KIRBY LUTZ

Kirby Lutz begins her first season as a member of the women's basketball coaching staff at Wilkes. Lutz is a 2007 graduate of DeSales University, where she earned bachelor's degrees in both Marketing and Management.

Lutz was a four-year member of the women's hoops squad at DeSales and served as a team captain during both her junior and senior seasons. She played in 113 games during her career and started 71 contests. Lutz concluded her career with the Bulldogs ranked 10th on the all-time scoring list with 1,226 points and eighth in rebounding with 655 boards. She also ranks 12th in career field goal attempts (978), 14th in field goals made (397), ninth in three-point field goal attempts (156), 10th in three-pointers made (40), and 12th in steals (186).

As a senior Lutz was named to the D3hoops.com All Mid-Atlantic Region first team, while also garnering first team All-Freedom Conference honors after averaging 16.8 points and 7.6 rebounds per game. That same season she was named the DeSales Female Athlete of the Year. As a junior she was selected to the All-Freedom Conference second team and averaged 14.8 points and 5.9 rebounds per tilt.

ASSISTANT COACH JENNIFER EVERETT

Jennifer Everett begins her first season as a member of the women's basketball coaching staff at Wilkes. Everett served as the head coach of the girl's basketball team at Hanover Area High School for five seasons prior to arriving at Wilkes.

Everett is a 1999 graduate of Franklin & Marshall College where she earned a bachelor's degree in Psychology. While at Franklin & Marshall she was a four-year letter winner and a three-year starter for the Diplomats hoops squad. Everett earned All-Centennial Conference honors during her sophomore, junior and senior seasons. She ranks among the all-time leaders at Franklin & Marshall in scoring, rebounding and blocked shots. Everett received her master's degree in Education from the University of Scranton in 2001. She is currently employed as a teacher in the Hanover Area School District.

ASSISTANT COACH JACKIE KLAHOLD

Jackie Klahold begins her second season as an assistant coach with the Lady Colonels basketball team.

Klahold is a 2000 graduate of Florida Atlantic University where she earned a bachelor's degree in Communications. During her time at Florida Atlantic she was a four-year member of the Division I school's softball team. Klahold helped the squad earn four consecutive Atlantic Sun Conference championships from 1997 through 2000..

Klahold was a four-year starter for the Owls as a first baseman. She ranks second all-time in games played (280), second in games started (280), fourth in doubles (35), fifth in triples (12), fourth in at-bats (785), fifth in hits (205), first in putouts (2324) and second in fielding percentage (.993). Klahold was named to the All-Atlantic Sun Conference team on two occasions and was twice selected to the Atlantic Sun All-Tournament Team.

Klahold currently serves as the head softball coach at Crestwood High School and is employed in the Wilkes Athletic Department. She is also working towards a second bachelor's degree in elementary education at Wilkes.

Third-year head coach Rachel Hartung Emmerthal will welcome back six players from last season's squad that fashioned an overall record of 6-19. She will also welcome five newcomers into the fold this season.

"This team has shown a great attitude and a desire to improve during the pre-season," stated Emmerthal. "We have a nice mix of returning players and newcomers and they seem to have meshed very well. I really like the chemistry that they have developed."

Senior forward Lacey Andresen, who started all 25 games as a junior, is one of the players that will be counted on despite an injury that has kept her off the floor thus far this season. Andresen was second on the team in scoring a year ago after averaging 9.3 points per game, while ranking third on the squad snagging 5.9 rebounds per tilt. Senior guard Katie Cappelloni, who was a starter in 23 of the 25 games she appeared in a year ago, is also back after finishing third on the team in scoring averaging 8.7 points and ranking fourth on the squad in rebounding with 4.5 per boards per contest.

"Lacey and Katie have stepped up and have become excellent leaders for us. They have been very vocal and are doing the things that we need from a leadership standpoint. Hopefully, we can get Lacey healthy and have her back on the court in January."

Sophomore Ashley Makarczyk and Nicole Quick, junior Chelsey Gosse, and junior Khadija Bates also return for the Lady Colonels. Makarczyk, a 5-9 guard, played in all 25 games, including five as a starter, and averaged 5.2 points and 2.8 rebounds. Quick saw action in every game last season and started three contests. The 5-7 guard contributed 2.2 points, 2.0 rebounds and 1.7 assists. Gosse, a 5-11 guard/forward, played in 24 games and started one. She averaged 4.1 points and 3.5 rebounds. Bates, a 5-10 forward/center, played in all 25 games a season ago and provided 2.6 points and 3.3 caroms per contest.

The list of newcomers this season includes sophomore Jessica Plisko, a 5-6 guard from Riverside High School, and freshmen Allison Horn, a 5-5 guard from Northwestern Lehigh, Sam Lynam, a 5-7 guard from Quakertown High School, Mari Gabriel, a 5-9 forward from Trinity High School, and Mackensey O'Hara, a 6-1 center from Unatego High School in New York.

"Because of our youth we have spent a lot of time on repetition during the early part of the season," added Emmerthal. "We are trying to insure that we are running things properly and that everyone is on the same page. This team seems to communicate very well and that is very important in regards to what we do both offensively and defensively."

The Freedom Conference has undergone some changes from last season with the departure of perennial power the University of Scranton, as well as Drew University. The conference has added two new members in Arcadia University and Manhattanville College.

"I feel that the conference is going to be very competitive this season. In order to be successful we are going to need to put our best effort forward every time that we step on the floor. If we can do this I believe that we can improve on last season."
