

WILKES UNIVERSITY

U.N. LECTURE SERIES

The global perspectives of the United Nations come to Wilkes University through a collaborative program launched in 2011. The program brings U.N. officials to campus throughout the year for lectures and informal meetings with students. Wilkes University is the ONLY northeast Pennsylvania higher education institution participating. Our goal for the 2016-2017 academic year is to present five lectures by U.N. officials, consisting of either secretariat officials, U.N. field workers, U.N. specialized agency officials and/or U.N. diplomats.

WOMEN'S EMPOWERMENT:

Participation, Power and Perception

Presented by VICKY EDGECOMBE

4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, 2016
Marts Center 214

For more information, contact:
Dr. Andreea Maieran at (570) 408-4112.
Visit www.wilkes.edu/un for updates.

THE
HUMPTY DUMPTY INSTITUTE
PUTTING THE PIECES BACK TOGETHER